Journal of Systems Integration is published quarterly on 31 January, 30 April, 31 July and 31 October. We accept submissions on a continuous basis; each paper will be reviewed by two independent reviewers using the double-blind system.

Instruction for authors

The paper must be an original unpublished work written in good English.

The paper must be written in MS Word text editor version 2003 or higher.

The paper should not exceed 20 typeset pages (1,800 characters per page, including spaces) in length.

The author is responsible for scientific accuracy, originality, and the formal appropriateness of the Article. If the submitted article has been published in another journal, it cannot be accepted. The editorial board has the right to refuse publication of the article. Each paper is briefly assessed by one of the Journal editors, who checks whether the paper satisfies the journal requirements. If it does, they send the manuscript to two referees. On receiving both referee reports, the editor decides either to accept or reject the paper (in the case of similar referee recommendations) or to request a third report (if the two referees disagree). The editor may also send the manuscript back to the authors for substantive revision and re-submission without consulting the referees

Papers are not rewarded.

Each paper must be submitted by form after registration and log into journal website at
